Tony Ortega Hysterical – Deletes Story On Guy Sitting Outside Chrissie Carnell's House

0

Remember this guy?

What happened to him?

Last week, on August 25th, 2018, Scientology and the Aftermath contributor Tony Ortega ran a breathless & unverified story called "VIDEO: Danny Masterson Accuser Confronts 'Stalker' Outside Her Los Angeles Home". He published Chrissie Carnell's videos of her going out in front of her house onto the street and videoing some guy's license plates while he sat in his car working on his computer. He seemed annoyed at her in the edited video snippets Tony let us see.

And she lies to him on the video when he asks, "Are you videoing me"?

"No!" she says innocently.

Tony reported to us that Chrissie said the policeman refused to file a report when he saw the scene, heard the story, and saw the videos. So Chrissie called his superior. Chrissie said, and Tony reported, that the police superior said that the guy's computer looked like computer WIFI hacking equipment.

Then, a day or so later, a detective was assigned to the case, per Chrissie's tweets on it.

Then, nothing.

Today I was looking for any follow up on this story, to answer "What did the detective find?"

And I find that Tony Ortega has taken down his whole post.

With no explanation or correction.

Nothing.

What happened?

It appears to be more hysterical and unverified reporting by Tony Ortega, just like his false "Jill Story", which he has also now deleted since last year. And also the story he reported – again before checking the facts – about Amy Scobee and her stalker – which turned out to be just some guy in his truck.

Don't get me wrong – these things should be reported to the authorities. But they should be checked out before they are reported as fact, and before you hysterically accuse Scientology, or anyone, of felony witness intimidation, and especially before you hysterically accuse the police of rampant corruption.

Anti-Scientologists Like Tony Ortega ARE Hysterical

Next time you see me calling anti-Scientologists hysterical, realize that I'm not calling anti-Scientologists hysterical because I want to make them look bad. They do that themselves, anyway. I'm calling them hysterical because I used to be one of them and I know what I am talking about.

This unverified reporting of hysterical claims by Tony Ortega, and NO ANTI-SCIENTOLOGIST saying "hey wait a minute here. This seems to be unverified" is proof that they are hysterical.

I don't think Tony really cares though. The size of his readership depends upon his ability to emotionally manipulate online activists and anti-Scientology social justice warriors. I just can't believe they let themselves be played like this, over and over, for so long.

So does anyone know what the detective found?

I'll bet it had something to do with the guy outside Chrissie Carnell's house having nothing to do with Danny Masterson or Scientology.

Right?

And that's why Tony's unverified and demagogic and emotionally manipulative article has been deleted from his blog with no explanation.

Right?

The Board of Directors that live in your head

How we perceive data, situations and people has a profound affect on how we make decisions and build relationships. Our mind is very powerful, and it can convince us of something that isn't necessarily true.

We all have filters on how we see things. When these filters become clouded and take us away from the seeing the facts they are called 'cognitive distortions'. Georgia Murch calls them the 'Board of Directors'. And they live in our head.
